JUBILEE CELEBRATION TOMORROW

Priest-Alumni Lead Full Day Of Activity Planned Wednesday

At 9:30 tomorrow morning the fiftieth annual celebration of the Feast of the Patronage of St. Joseph will begin with the blessing of Xavier and Noll Halls. Afterwards, there will be a Solemn Mass Coram Episcopo with His Excellency the Most Rev. John F. Noll, D.D., Bishop of the Fort Wayne diocese, presiding and preaching.

The Very Rev. Joseph M. Marling, S.T.L., Ph.D., Provincial of the Society of the Precious Blood in America, will be the celebrant for the Mass.

Mass and the blessing of the two new residence halls will take up the greater part of the morning's activities. Little more than the renewing of old acquaintanceships and inspecting the Collegeville campus will occupy the remainder of the morning.

At 1:00 the banquet, with the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward J. Mungovan as toastmaster, will begin. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Rupert C. Goebel will be the principal speaker of the afternoon.

Following Father Goebel on the speaker's list will be Most Rev. John F. Noll, Very Rev. Joseph Marling, C.P.P.S., Very Rev. Aloys Dirksen, C.P.P.S., and Rev. John F. Cogan.

According to an announcement made late last week, some 900 invitations have been extended to Priest-Alumni of the college. These invitations include also special notification for all pastors of boys who are in attendance at the college.

Say Phaze To Appear On Scheduled Date

With all photographs and copy in the printer's hand, Phaze, the new college yearbook, is running on schedule and will probably make its appearance on or about May 15. This word came from Robert Sacksteder, business manager of the book.

Approximately 600 copies have been sold in advance. Phaze has for its theme the Golden Jubilee celebration. Its large history section is divided into five decades. A total of 179 separate plates went into the makeup, Sacksteder says.

A picture of the two domes of the chapel stamped in gold on brown leather makes up the outward appearance of what promises to be a very fine yearbook.

Archbishop of Santa Fe Famous Alumus

Undoubtedly one of the most distinguished among the alumni of St. Joe is the Most Rev. Rudolph A. Gerken, '10, Archbishop of Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Regretfully, His Excellency had to decline the invitation to the Golden Jubilee celebration because of the pressure of duties at home. His absence is a keen disappointment, for Archbishop Gerken has always been a warm admirer and ardent supporter of the college. "It is my sincere wish and prayer," he writes, "that St. Joseph's may continue to prosper and do a great deal of good in the field of Catholic education."

In the fall of 1908 he came to St. Joe as a young man of twenty-one from his home in Dyersville, Iowa. Those who remember him as a student recall that he was a well-balanced young man, one inclined to thorough mastery of every subject. He was known as a hard worker and a diligent student.

After his graduation in 1910, the then Mr. Gerken taught school for three years before he entered Kenrick Seminary at Webster Groves, Mo. He was ordained in 1917 and for two years was engaged in pastoral work in the diocese of Dallas, Texas.

In 1927 he was consecrated bishop of Amarillo, Texas. During his episcopate there he founded Price Memorial College at Amarillo.

In 1933 he received the appointment as Archbishop of Santa Fe, a position which he has held ever since.

Since 1933, Archbishop Gerken has founded the Lourdes Trade School and Preparatory Seminary at Albuquerque, and he was chiefly instrumental in opening the famous Seminary of Our Lady of Guadalupe, Montezuma, which is located within his diocese.

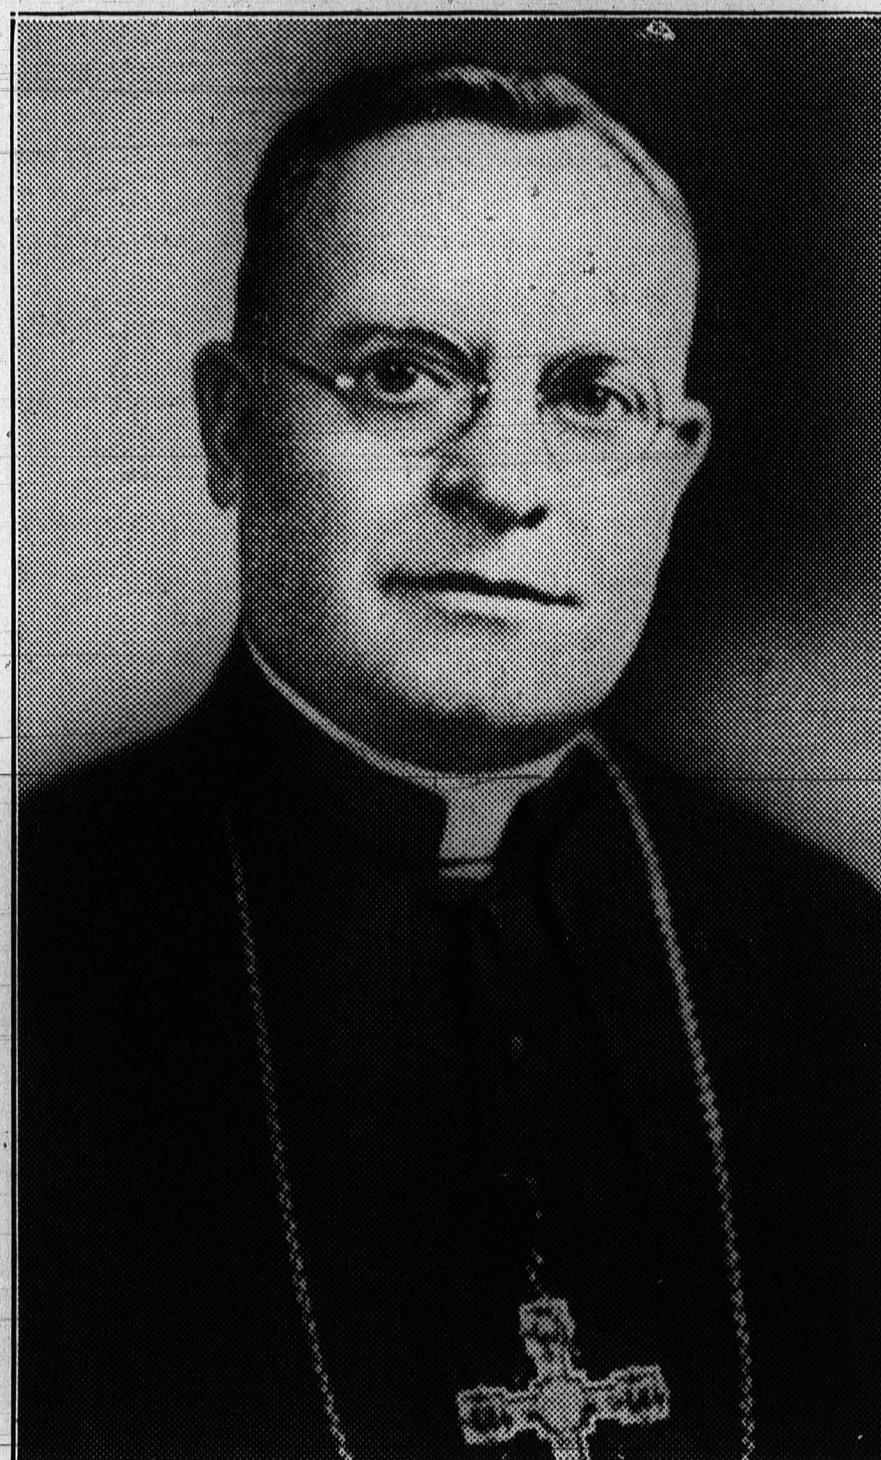

Dick Bissler Finds Operation Confusing

It's no fun spending your Rensselaer hospital convalescence in a maternity ward, admits Academy senior Dick Bissler, whose appendectomy of April 21 is bringing him additional woes.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fate delivered their sympathy in the form of a fully clothed doll. His classmates chipped together and will probably include a toy washboard.

"I feel cheapest at bottle-time," said Dick, who is getting plenty fed up with the way hospital attaches subtlety include him "with the rest of the infants."

Ft. Wayne's Bishop Noll to Bless New Buildings During Ceremony

The Most Reverend John Francis Noll, D.D., Bishop of the Ft. Wayne Diocese, will dedicate two recently erected halls, Noll and Xavier, on the St. Joe campus in a ceremony to commence at 9:30 a.m., Wednesday morning, as part of the Golden Jubilee Celebration for the clergy that day.

Together with Seifert Hall, the largest residence on the campus, these two buildings have greatly enhanced the attractiveness of the college. They are all beautiful structures.

Noll Hall, which is named after Bishop Noll, was erected during the summer of 1940. This stonewall, brick structure, two stories in height, is of Georgian architecture. It is L-shaped and modern throughout. Ninety lay students live in Noll Hall, some in private rooms and others in one of the two dormitories. The building also contains a study hall for freshmen.

Xavier Hall is situated to the east of the Chapel, to which it is joined by an arcade. It is an attractive brick and stone structure in the Romanesque style of architecture. It is the residence hall for the students preparing for the priesthood in the Society of the Precious Blood. Besides dormitories, Xavier contains study halls, classrooms, a recreational room, and locker rooms.

"Quite a number of comfortable new chairs have been placed into the dormitories and the auditorium." (December, 1898—Collegian.)

9 Presidents Guide St. Joe Through Fifty Years

In the fifty-year span of St. Joseph's College, its presidents, nine in all, are known as men of priestly virtue and scholastic diligence. From Fr. Seifert to Fr. Dirksen each was chosen by his superior to take the helm with this one aim: To advance St. Joseph's in every field in order to properly educate Catholic young men.

Elsewhere in this issue is a separate article on the Rev. Augustine Seifert, C.P.P.S., the first president of Collegeville. It is enough to mention here that he held this office for two terms, 1891-1899 and 1902-1912.

For the three years between these two terms, the Rev. Benedict Boebner, C.P.P.S., took over the office of president. Before this, Fr. Benedict was prefect and spiritual director of the secular students besides being chaplain of the Boebner Light Guards, the military unit named in his honor.

The Rev. Hugo Lear succeeded to the rectorship in 1912 upon the retirement of Fr. Seifert. During his term of office the college celebrated its twenty-fifth jubilee. Fr. Lear came to Collegeville as a professor in 1899 and taught Physiology and Religion until 1912. In 1916 the Rev. Ignatius Wagner, C.P.P.S., assumed the duties of the office vacated by Fr. Lear, who then served on the College Board of Trustees for one year.

First Alumnus—President
Having attended St. Joseph's as a student from 1898-1904, Fr. Wagner was the first alumnus to hold the office of president. In 1912 he came as professor of English and Mathematics and was appointed secretary of the College in 1914. He served in these capacities until he took over the duties of president. Having been president of Collegeville for ten years, Dr. Wagner was elected provincial of the Society of the Precious Blood in 1926, which position he held for twelve years. At the present time he is rector at Brunndale Seminary, Canton, Ohio, to which office he was appointed in 1940.

Before the Rev. Didacus Brackman, C.P.P.S., was appointed president of St. Joseph's in 1926, he was a member of the Board of Trustees of the College from 1915-1924. At the beginning of his term of office St. Joseph's was a strict prep seminary. He, too, was an alumnus who returned to Collegeville to serve as president. All the other presidents since then are alumni of St. Joseph's.

From Junior to Senior College

For the next nine years, 1928-1937, the present head of the Social Science Department, Dr. Joseph Kenkel, C.P.P.S., took the helm. Two years before his term of office, Fr. Kenkel was a member of the College Board of Administration. In the last year of his duties as president Fr. Kenkel saw St. Joseph's expand from a junior college to a senior college.

At the beginning of the second semester in 1937, Fr. Rufus Esser, C.P.P.S., was appointed president. After three months, however, he was forced to resign because of ill health. At the present time Fr. Esser is recuperating from an illness. Fr. Esser, who came to Collegeville in 1929, was teacher of English and Latin, College Librarian, Academy Principle and also served on the Board of Administration for the college.

Upon the resignation of Fr. Esser, Fr. Sylvester Hartman, C.P.P.S., vice-president, acted as president until the Rev. Cyril Knue took over in 1937. He was in office for one year when he was chosen as

Fr. Westhoven Comes From China Province

One of the notables present at St. Joe's Jubilee Celebration has lived a life in foreign missionary fields that might well be compared with the most romantic of fiction. He is the Rev. William Westhoven, C.P., who was a student at St. Joe from 1911 to 1913.

In 1922, shortly after his ordination, Father Westhoven was sent to Shenchowfu, Hunan Province, China. There he remained until 1932. Then, after a stay of one year in this country, he was again sent back to China. His stay there forced him to witness many of the horrors of war, famine, and flood.

Once he was confronted by bandits, and only by careful persuasion did he settle with them. Another time he had to stand by and watch a hospital which he had founded be destroyed by enemy war planes. Although one thousand patients were in the hospital at the time, Father Westhoven and his aids were able to avert a serious catastrophe. They were later forced to hide in the hills for a time, only to come back to labor in these fertile mission fields of the East.

Father Westhoven has many pictures that he has taken in this vast country of his missionary activities. Pictures that mirror great sufferings that many Americans would find difficult to understand and believe; pictures of the great famine of a few years ago; pictures of the present that disclose all the barbarism of war.

Many narrow escapes from the scythe of death are told by Father Westhoven, who has risked his life so often in love for God.

His arrival in this country last February enabled Father Westhoven to make plans to attend the Celebration.

Don Westhoven, freshman, is a nephew of Father Westhoven.

Pursley Award Less Than One Week Off

With the deadline of the Pursley Contest for Creative Writing less than a week off, contestants are furiously pounding typewriters to get their entries in on time. All entries must be submitted to the Rev. Dr. Paul Speckbaugh, C.P.P.S., chairman of the English department, on or before Sunday, May 4. A complete list of the rules was printed in last week's issue of STUFF.

Donor of this annual prize is the Rev. Leo Pursley, '21, pastor in Warsaw, Ind.

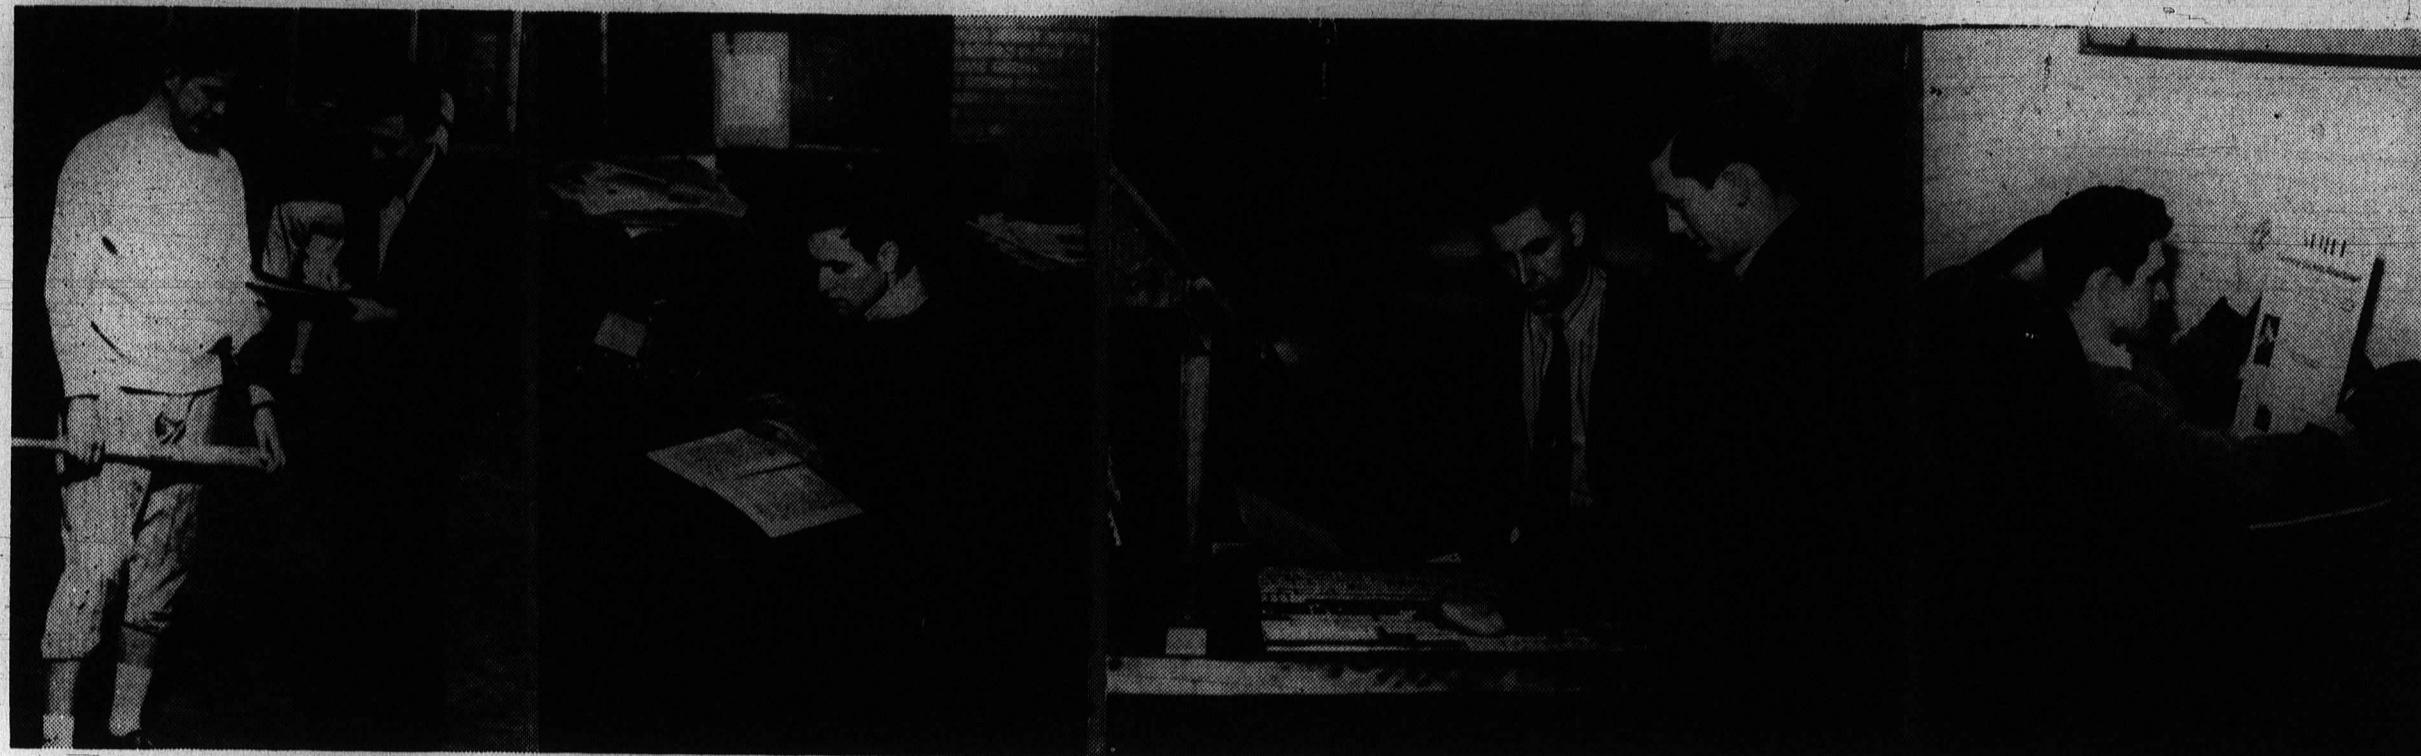

Last year's winner was Bill Peitz, who copped the fifty dollar award with a one-act play, "Coal."

representative of the Precious Blood Community to the General Curia in the Vatican. For ten years, before he served as president, Fr. Knue was Chemistry and Physics professor at the College besides being moderator of the Dwenger Mission Society. In 1934 he became head of the Science Department and was responsible for the introduction of the Advanced Courses in Science at St. Joseph's.

President Dirksen Takes Over
Rev. Dr. Aloys Dirksen, C.P.P.S., the present head of St. Joseph's, succeeded Fr. Knue in 1938. A special article concerning Dr. Dirksen is elsewhere in this issue.

Thus is the long line of men who took the helm and guided the destiny of St. Joseph's College from the time the first plot of ground was broken for the Main Building in 1890 down to the present, when Collegeville celebrates its Golden Anniversary of Founding.

"PIRATES OF PENZANCE" CAST EYES MAY 6 DATE

That's Production Time For Glee Club, C.Y.O.

In presenting Gilbert and Sullivan's famous operetta, "The Pirates of Penzance," on Tuesday evening, May 6, St. Joe's Glee Club will be offering Collegeville residents the second such musical that this organization has presented.

The Rev. Harold V. Diller, C.P.S., chairman of the music department and director of the production, announces that rehearsals are running smoothly and the attitude of the cast is most favorable. In short, all conditions point to a successful and thoroughly entertaining program.

Costumes have been ordered and are to arrive several days before the operetta is to be offered. Meanwhile, stage hands have been busily engaged in the task of building the appropriate scenery.

C.Y.O. girls from Rensselaer are to be cast in the feminine leads and have been practicing nightly with the Glee Club.

Jubilee Committee Plans Next Event

St. Joseph's Golden Jubilee general program committee was organized last December to take care of the celebrations of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the founding of this school.

The members of this committee will also have charge of the program on Alumni Day, which will be held June 15. Along with these two celebrations, there will be an academic day some time next fall, arrangements for which will be taken care of by this committee. It is made up entirely of members of the faculty.

Tomorrow the clergy will open the celebration by taking part in a program which was arranged by the following members of the Golden Jubilee committee: the Rev. Dr. Joseph B. Kenkel, C.P.P.S.; the Rev. Dr. Walter T. Pax, C.P.P.S.; the Very Rev. Dr. Aloys H. Dirksen, C.P.P.S.; the Rev. Dr. Anthony B. Paluszak, C.P.P.S.; the Rev. Ildephonse Rapp, C.P.P.S.; and Mr. Edward Fischer.

Science Club Plans Banquet for May 14

President Theodosis, of the Albertus Magnus Society, announced today that this organization will hold its annual banquet in Lunghi's restaurant May 14. Guest speaker for the dinner will be made known at a later date.

"Pirate" Misses Tune Up Before Rehearsal Via Recording Machine

Science is coming to the aid of Art in the staging of Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta, "Pirates of Penzance," which will be produced, May 6, by the St. Joe College Glee Club in cooperation with the feminine members of the Rensselaer, Ind., CYO unit. Joan Wood, Mary Jean Murphy, Pauline Knauff, Caroline Nagel, and Mary Louise Brusnahan are shown recording one of the gay songs from the operetta. They then compare their recording with one made of the same song by a professional group. The comparison helps them in smoothing the rough spots.

PROM AFTERGLOW

St. Joe Monogram Club members led more than 150 couples of gay promenaders through the grand march of their Fifth Annual Monogram Formal, held in the palatially transformed Rensselaer Armory last Saturday evening. Art Kassel and his orchestra gave everybody a new thrill from the bandstand.

Immediately after the Prom—this by the way something different—Kassel did not pull a "One O'clock Jump" but hung around with a few of his henchmen, signing autographs and answering questions. "We tried to mix in a little jump rhythm with the sweet, because the crowd simply seemed to ask for it," said the maestro with a blush or two to somebody's "nice swingin', Art."

Kasel told how the hop step he saw among St. Joe promenaders took him back to 1925 and Chicago's Southmoor Hotel, where, to his music, the "Indiana Hop" was born.

It was an older prom crowd than in previous years. Alumni and guests turned out in generous numbers. Student attendance was slightly increased over last year.

Msgr. Goebel Speaker In Day's Celebration

The guest speaker at the Golden Jubilee banquet is to be the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Rupert C. Goebel, Pastor of St. Peter's Church, Mansfield, Ohio. St. Joseph's Place in Catholic Education, will be the title of the Monsignor's address.

During the years 1899-1908, Msgr. Goebel was a student here on the "hallowed campus of St. Joe." He was an active member of the Columbian Literary Society, playing in several of their productions. The Marion Sodality also had this distinctive student as an officer in their ranks. Msgr. Goebel played on the championship intramural hockey team during the year 1900. Records also reveal that the Monsignor placed high in the scholastic ranks of his class during his years here on the campus.

The new major will be a division of the Department of English. For the first two years students wishing to carry journalism as a major will pursue the regular liberal arts program. During their junior and senior years the special courses in journalism will be presented. Only the courses for the junior year will be given during 1941-42.

As outlined, junior-year courses to be offered are: English for Journalists; The Community Newspaper; News Writing and Reporting; and the Editorial Page. The senior year will add: Editing, Newspaper Management and Advertising; Feature Writing; and Ethics of Journalism and the Law of the Press.

"Not since the days of 'Porks' mishap, has such dread and consternation been spread among the ranks of the finny tribe of our lake as was on Military day from the 'shock and concussion of the cannon's explosion.' The walls of Collegeville fairly trembled and we wonder exceedingly that our little island upon which the cannon was mounted is still in existence although the gun was not of the Krupp variety." The

(Editorial)

Fifty years is a long time in a certain sense. Then, again, it is a short time as history moves. If it is long we must marvel at the stability and courage and labor that survived a half century. If it is short we must wonder that so much has been accomplished within that space of time. To be as correct as possible we must say that fifty years is both a long and a short time.

We must say that it is a remarkable tribute to those men whose lives are dedicated to God's work through His Precious Blood. It is a remarkable tribute that a man came to the lonely, wind-swept prairie land and found a marsh where he would build a college. It is remarkable that he took a wheelbarrow and a helper and set out to erect a college on that swamp. Most remarkable is the fact that Father Seifert and the other men who worked with him were able to accomplish their goal.

Over a period of fifty years there are moments of hardships and moments of tribulation; there are instances of glowing success and of dismal failure. But never were there moments when the goal toward which these men ever strove became less bright. For had it lost its brightness there would have been a break in those fifty years. And there has been no break.

It is not easy to write words to picture the work of fifty years or to tell a lifetime in short, limited paragraphs. Above all, it is not easy to speak words of praise, for even the best of those sound all too stilted in comparison to the gigantic undertaking they would characterize.

For those of us who are comparative newcomers to St. Joseph's there is no need of words to tell the story of that grand transformation. The whole story is written here. It is written in old brick walls, weather-beaten, and covered with twisted ivy; it is written in solemn tradition that is good about a place; it is written indelibly in everything that is part of our daily living here. The story is in the fine personal contact between student and professor. It is written in the hearts of all those who wear His Cross, and it comes to us with all the live warmth of living history.

The story is old, of course, but it is still being written. And the marvel is that so much has been written in fifty years. It has been a long time, and, again, it has been such a short time.

President's Welcome

This year the Feast of the Patronage of St. Joseph's is an especially happy one at the College because of the large number of Priest-Alumni who are returning for the fiftieth commemoration of the Feast. St. Joseph's College is justly proud of its former students who have entered the Holy Priesthood. In the past fifty years the college has given more than seven hundred to this exalted office. Many of them have risen to high positions in the Church, and all of them have labored tirelessly for the good of souls and for Holy Mother Church.

It is a happy duty and privilege to welcome them back to St. Joseph's, to make public thanks to them for the lustre they have shed upon their Alma Mater, and to honor them for their labors for Holy Mother Church.

From the Dusty Pages

By Bob Wendelin

From the pages of St. Joseph's Collegian of years gone by, are taken these items. To us they might seem pointless and without meaning. To many of the clergy at Collegeville today they might start numerous little gatherings and discussions. To them, therefore, gleanings from the Dusty Pages:

Tomorrow's Rites Bring Two Halls Officially Into College 'Family'

Xavier Hall, home of the students preparing to enter the Congregation of the Precious Blood, is located on the southeastern part of the campus.

Here is Noll Hall. Built during the summer and fall of 1940, it was put into use during the first semester. Noll contains private rooms, two dormitories and two study halls.

Chief of Army Chaplains, Msgr. Arnold, May Attend

"I hope to be there, but all depends on circumstances at the time," wrote the V. Rev. Msgr. William Arnold, '02, Chief of Chaplains of the U. S. Army, in answer to his invitation to attend the Golden Jubilee celebration tomorrow. Similarly does St. Joseph's anticipate his welcome presence.

Msgr. William Arnold

To come will mean a sacrifice for Msgr. Arnold. For in his official capacity he has well over 700 Catholic, non-Catholic and Jewish chaplains under his charge. The details of his office during the present armament program are enormous. But he does not confine himself to the necessary duties of his position; he is always eager to promote anything which will foster the spiritual welfare of the soldiers. Recently he announced for the War Department the completed plans to build over 600 permanent chapels in the camps, this at a cost of $12,816,880.

Msgr. Arnold is an army man by preference. Already as a student he was interested in military affairs, as was evidenced by his membership in the Students' Military Training Corps. A few years after his ordination he entered the army. Since then he has risen steadily, having served successively as Director of the U. S. Chaplains' School at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas, at Ft. McKinley, Philippine Islands, and in Hawaii. President Roosevelt appointed him to his present position in 1937. He is the first Catholic priest ever to hold this office.

Because of his outstanding accomplishments the Church bestowed upon Father Arnold the title of Monsignor in 1939.

Sanguinists Attended Congress At St. Mary's Over Weekend

Five members of the Sanguinist Club for Catholic Action journeyed to South Bend, Ind., last Saturday and Sunday. They attended the convention of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine held at St. Mary's College.

Making the trip were Paul Le Sage, Tom McNally, Francis Kinney, Robert Contant, and Joseph Susi.

LeSage addressed the assembly Sunday afternoon on a subject pertaining to the field of Catholic Action. This convention has come to be a regular annual affair as far as the local Sanguinists are concerned.

In addition to their work in publishing the weekly religious bulletin, entitled The Sanguinist, the club engages in numerous phases of Catholic Action. Notable among these is the recent attempt to supply CCC camps in the vicinity with Catholic newspapers and periodicals.

Father Seifert's Pioneer Spirit Was Start of SJC

Current stories of the Collegeville past bring to students' minds not only the romantic tales of a swamp-bogged and sand-filled campus fifty years ago, but also the indomitable, pioneering spirit of St. Joe's first president, Father August Seifert, C.P.P.S.

Father August reigned over the local campus for nineteen years. Under his stern, disciplined management, a new institution beat back the Indiana wilderness and started well on the way toward being the thing of joy and beauty it is today.

Three-and-a-half years ago Father August passed away. Yet the stories still go on, as if the great leader still lay in funeral state.

A Tireless Worker
As head of the college, Father Seifert was more than professor and president. He was at once procurator and dean of studies as well. He taught twenty-four class the life of Father August. Alumni laymen flocked to view his remains.

President at 34

Father August was born in Tiffin, O., eighty-four years ago this week. He became the first St. Joseph's president at the age of thirty-four. When things became most difficult, then was his unlimited trust in Divine Providence strongest. How impressive it is to see a strong, masterful leader bow down in adoration to his own Governor.

Of the present faculty, perhaps Father Sylvester Hartman and Father Ildephonse Rapp are best equipped to recall the Father Seifert of old. They can tell of the old cord-road to Rensselaer and the board walk into town.

Today's Collegeville is lush with new buildings, the very symbol of progress and development. There is rolling greenward in place of the sodden bog. Yet through all of this modern era must endure the bond with the past—an intangible though certain link with the power of giants, with the pioneering spirit of Father August Seifert.

Monsignor Mungovan To Be Toastmaster At Jubilee Banquet

Geniality will be the keyword when the V. Rev. Monsignor Edward J. Mungovan exercises his ability as toastmaster at the Jubilee banquet. Everyone looks forward to his pleasantries when he goes reminiscing.

Monsignor Mungovan was one of the earliest students at St. Joseph's. Ordained in May of 1902 by Bishop Alerding, he first served as curate at St. Patrick's, Fort Wayne, before receiving pastorates at Arcola, Valparaiso, and Hammond, Ind., successively.

Made Vicar General

Following the death of Monsignor Durham during the winter of 1940, Father Mungovan was designated Vicar General of the Diocese of Fort Wayne. A few months later in July, the Holy See conferred upon him the honor which is his due both by right of office and for his zealous priestly accomplishments.

Loyalty to St. Joseph's has not been one of the least of Monsignor Mungovan's loves. He has been present at almost all the major functions during the many years since his ordination. Especially has he enlivened the annual alumni celebrations.

hours weekly. The problems he faced in the early years were prodigious. Yet "fear" was a word he never knew.

Father Seifert's labors continued on after his tenure in Collegeville. In 1913 he became chaplain and director of the Precious Blood Sisters at Maria Stein and Dayton, O. In 1926 he accepted a similar post with the Sisters of St. Francis, at Tiffin, O. In 1933, fifty-two years after his ordination, he went into retirement.

Last Visit Here.
His last visit to St. Joseph's was in June, 1937, six months before his death. "This is the last time I will see you," were his parting words to the S.J.C. faculty, most of whom were his former students. His recognition of death was simple and matter-of-fact, and like a warrior who had served well, he was glad to die.

Father Seifert said his last Mass on Dec. 8, 1937, on the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, a day he loved so well. He had already cared for his Christmas mail and correspondence. On Dec. 16, almost without effort, he died.

At his funeral a bishop was the celebrant. Four monsignori and seventy-five priests were present, all of whom could recall great moments of piety and achievement in

Father John Cogan, Student in First Class, Is Among Top Ranking St. Joe. Alumni

The Rev. John F. Cogan, '96, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Hamilton, Ohio, will speak as a representative of the alumni when the clergy start the Golden Jubilee ball rolling with an ecclesiastical celebration here tomorrow.

Fr. Cogan might rightfully be ranked among the founders of the college for he is the personification of all St. Joe tradition.

He came to the campus the autumn that St. Joseph's opened its doors—that was fifty years ago. He was a few years older than the other students, and so was always respectfully referred to as "Mister Cogan." He was placed in charge of a study hall, and at times he helped out with teaching assignments.

It was mainly through Fr. Cogan's initiative that the Columbian Literary Society was founded in 1892. He was elected executive committeeman at the first meeting. He played leading roles in the first two plays presented by the organization.

Likewise it was largely through Mr. Cogan's efforts that a postoffice was started in Collegeville. He handled most of the necessary correspondence with government officials.

He was a key man in the foundation of the Seifert Light Guards, campus military organization. He held the rank of Major.

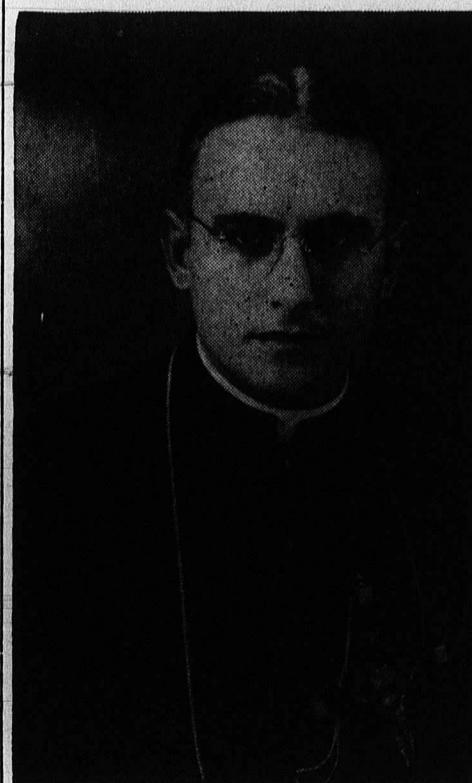

The day after graduation, for which he acted as class valedictorian, Fr. Cogan became a charter member of the newly founded Alumni Association. He was elected national president during the second year of the organization's existence.

In age, Fr. Cogan is probably the oldest alumnus of the college. In the matter of work well done, no graduate has ever been able to surpass him.

Sanguinist Provincial Also To Participate

Ordained in 1929, professor of Apologetics at St. Charles Seminary from that time until 1931, recipient of the coveted Doctor's degree in 1934, professor at St. Charles and Catholic University from 1934 to 1938, Provincial of the North American Province of the Congregation of the Most Precious Blood since 1938 — that is the priestly record of the V. Rev. Joseph M. Marling, C.P.P.S.

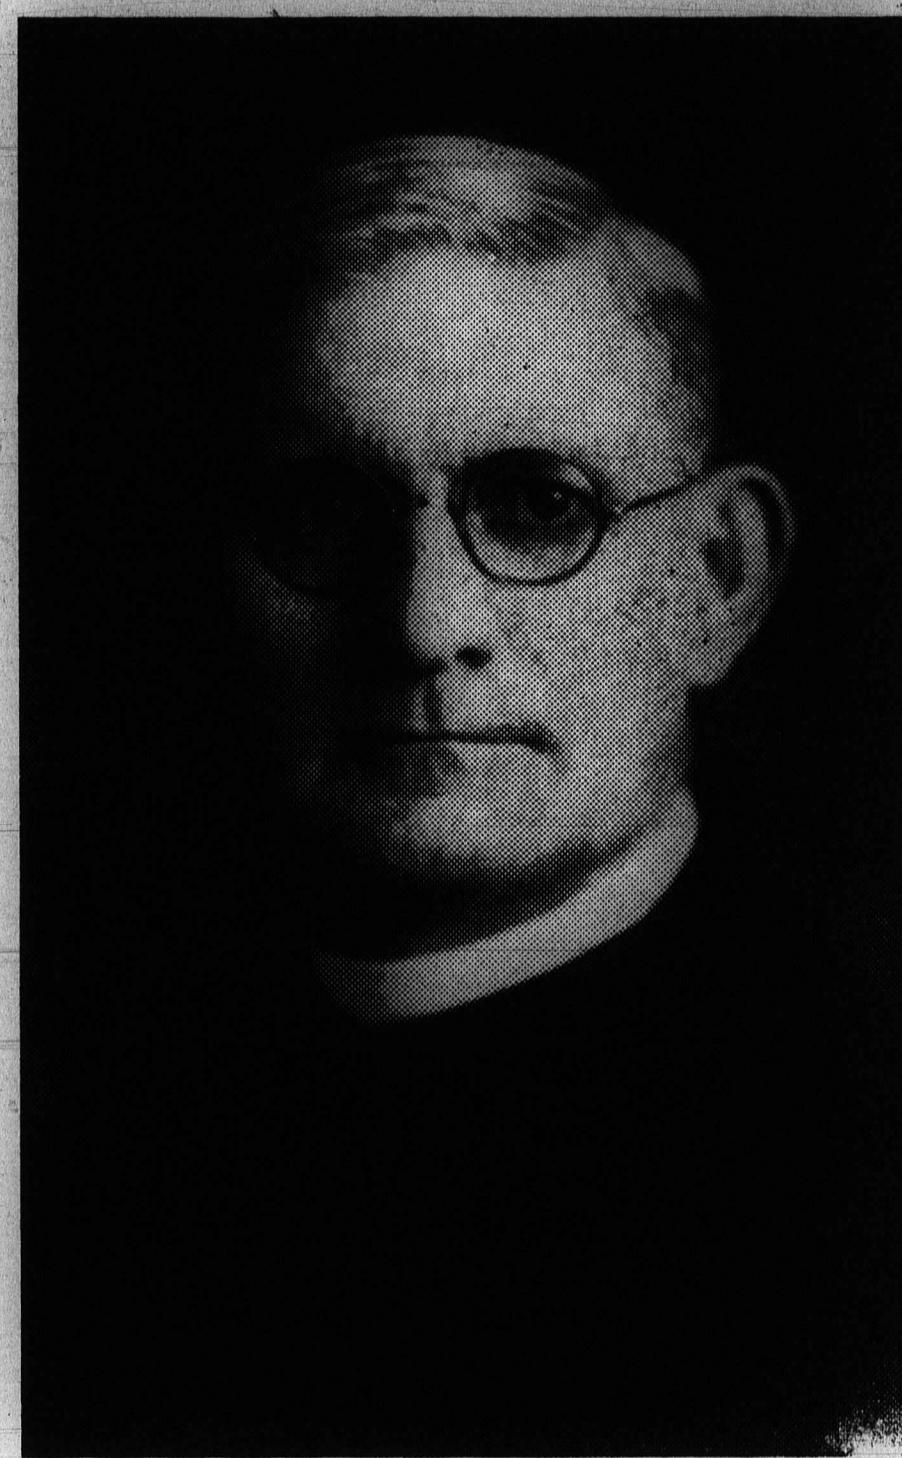

Youngest Provincial of the North American Province, Father Marling was born in Centralia, West Va.,

Father Joseph Marling

and spent his youth in Ironton, Ohio. Before his ordination he studied at St. Joseph's and at St. Charles, Carthagena, Ohio.

Noted particularly for his philosophical writings he has been a regular contributor to the New Scholasticism. In addition to his duties as Provincial, Father Marling is president of the board of trustees of the college.

Father Dirksen, as Host, Welcomes Jubilee Guests

One man responsible for St. Joe's advancement during recent years has been the genial and able president, the V. Rev. Aloys Dirksen, C.P.P.S., S.T.D.

Since he took office in 1938, Fr. Dirksen has labored endlessly to firmly establish St. Joe in the world of education. He has witnessed many major improvements in his short term of office; improvements for which he has been largely responsible.

Indeed, St. Joseph's might well be called Fr. Dirksen's first love. He was sent here in 1926 by his superiors to teach languages. However, because of his talent he was sent to the Catholic University to prepare for teaching scripture. From 1931 until his appointment to the College, he taught at St. Charles Seminary.

While at St. Charles Seminary, Fr. Dirksen held the position of vice-rector from 1932 to 1936. At the provincial election that year he was elected secretary to the Provincial, the second highest position in the American Province of the Society of the Precious Blood.

Fr. Dirksen has contributed much to the field of learning. His dissertation, "The New Testament Concept of Metanoia," is considered a masterpiece. He is a frequent contributor to prominent Catholic periodicals. Besides this, he is a member of the American Oriental Society, the Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis, the National Association of Biblical Instruction, and a charter member of the Catholic Biblical Association of America. Father Dirksen has done a great amount of Biblical work.

Born in 1901, Father Dirksen is the son of Mr. Frank Dirksen, who was a member of St. Joe's class of 1891.

Pumas Trample Earlham Saturday

Puma Prints

By Don Casey

Apr. 25:

At the time of this writing St. Joe has one baseball victory and two defeats. The Pumas hold an Indiana conference victory over Butler, and they suffered a conference loss at the hands of Wabash and also were beaten by a Big-Ten foe, Purdue.

Twelve more games remain on the local schedule. When this paper is released ten games will be unplayed, for the Pumas entertain Earlham, Saturday, and Indiana State, Monday.

Of the twelve coming games eight are conference contests and four against non-conference teams. We get another crack at Wabash, May 23, at Crawfordsville.

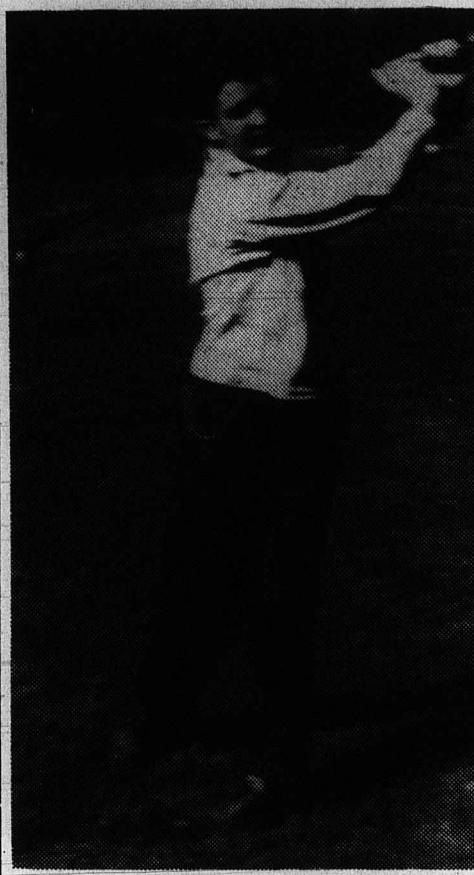

Meeting nine conference opponents on the diamond allows St. Joe leeway to drop a couple of games and still have a chance to win in the league. This offers a somewhat different picture from football and basketball, where one conference defeat usually severs all championship hopes.

Coach Dick Scharf has the team improving steadily. The pitching has been good, but the pitchers were handicapped by some wobbly backing in the Wabash and Purdue games. The boys snapped out of it in time to give a good defensive performance against Butler, making only one error; Joe Leugers' four-hit pitching in this game brightened the Pumas' chances for the future.

So far, Leugers and Mauri Guttsell have done all the flinging, but Bill Shine, John Hunera, and Jim Cosman, the other members of the mound staff who have shown promise in practice, will all more than likely see action before the final curtain, May 27.

The boys haven't been crashing the fences to any extent, although Wally Lenczyk and Johnny Boyle were exceptions, with a homer and a triple against Wabash and Purdue respectively. Johnny Murphy, one of the weaker hitters last season, has the best batting average for the first three games. Bill Gladen and Connie Vanderkolk, two

BULLETIN

The college baseball team has another game on its schedule, meeting Wilson College of Chicago here this Wednesday, Apr. 30, according to Coach Dick Scharf.

Potentially hard hitters, have yet to deliver their first blow.

Here are the batting averages for all St. Joe players participating in the first three games:

Murphy	6	3	.500
Lenczyk	13	4	.308
Leugers	9	2	.222
Clark	10	2	.200

Two intra-school baseball games which should prove interesting are in the making, the academy versus the college freshmen, and a unique game between the varsity and the faculty.

Sports Activity Picks Up As Spring Visits Campus

A dictator may have a way of changing things to his own way of thinking, but it would be a rather difficult task for any influence to stop the progress the Pumas are making in the field of sports. The shots pictured elsewhere on this page give only a slight idea of the activity that goes on in various sports here in the spring.

Baseball is the main attraction during this balmy season. A sixteen-game schedule keeps the variety in the tuning process most of the time. The frosh squad limit their competition to inter-squad games and games with the varsity. Coach Dick Scharf's youngest group of prodigies, the academy nine, have a nine-game card to play this spring.

Entering into its second year of competition, the tennis five are depending upon the results of a six-match schedule to determine whether they will qualify to enter a statewide meet at Earlham.

Gridders will wind up their spring session this week. Prospects of a bright season have been dampened by the draft laws, but the coming campaign promises plenty of real ball games.

Golfers are ready and willing. Already low scores indicate growing interest in the sport.

Last, but not least, track is on the upgrade with a revival of interest. The squad is competing in several two, three, and four-team meets this spring, and Coach Joe Dienhart plans to enter the best performers in the Little State meet at the close of the season.

"The following advertisement arrived here today: The Victor Talking Machine. Loud and clear as the natural voice. Requires no particular skill in handling.—We are happy to state that we are in possession of one of the best Victor Talking Machines that ever came to the market. The only difference from the original is that special care must be taken in handling it." (May, 1902—Collegian.)

Shine and Guttsell Stingy With Hits

Big Bill Shine chalked up a victory for his starting assignment on the mound this season as the Puma nine romped over Earlham 10-3 on the home grounds last Saturday. Shine allowed only one hit in four and one-third innings, Guttsell yielded but two in the remaining four and two-third innings.

Clark's single in the fourth drove in the first run for the local lads. Vandy followed through with another single and two more runs. Shine walked two men in the first of the fifth; then his old side injury did a turn over. Guttsell replaced him with one out. Two unearned runs followed for Earlham on wild pegs.

Dick Cody drove in two runs in the last half of the seventh with a long single but was picked off attempting to stretch it. Fred Young was the losing pitcher for Earlham.

Game Saturday

The Pumas will meet the powerful gas-house nine from Chicago Teachers College on the home diamond Saturday, May 3. Coach Dick Scharf has not disclosed the starting pitcher. It will be the sixth scheduled encounter on the Puma card.

One week from today, May 6, the team takes off to the road to meet Illinois Wesleyan.

Clergy-Alumni Were Former Sports Stars

Far from complete would be a Golden Jubilee celebration if the celebrants failed to bring back memories of the old and glorious teams which represented the college in the days of its "boyhood." Reminiscing through the old Collegians, one finds vivid stories of the games of years ago. One also finds the names of many, now prominent alumni in the clergy ranks, who starred in their college days. Do you remember when . . .

Skinny Mungovan and Bill Arnold thrilled the football enthusiasts in the rough "cripple and kill" battles between the Vigilants and the Defenders? Skinny, who spent six years here (1891-1897), is none other than the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward J. Mungovan, Vicar General of the Diocese of Fort Wayne. Bill Arnold has also reached the Monsignori heights and is the Chief of Chaplains of the United States Army.

A bit later (1911-1914), the Rev. Paul A. Derry, pastor of The Old Cathedral, Vincennes, Indiana; Paul was known then as the best all-round athlete on the campus. Paul starred in St. Joe's first track meet against Rensselaer High School, in which he scored twenty-three of the final total of seventy-one points.

Among the men who did most to raise the baseball team to the heights it reached during the years from 1905 to 1910, was George Hasser, who spent four years working with the team, spending most of this time on the mound. The Rev. George A. Hasser is now the chaplain of Sacred Heart Hospital in Garrett, Indiana.

These are but a few names in the eras which marked the progressive strides of St. Joe in Sports. Many more tales will pass through the air today as the grads bring 'em back 'n live 'em.

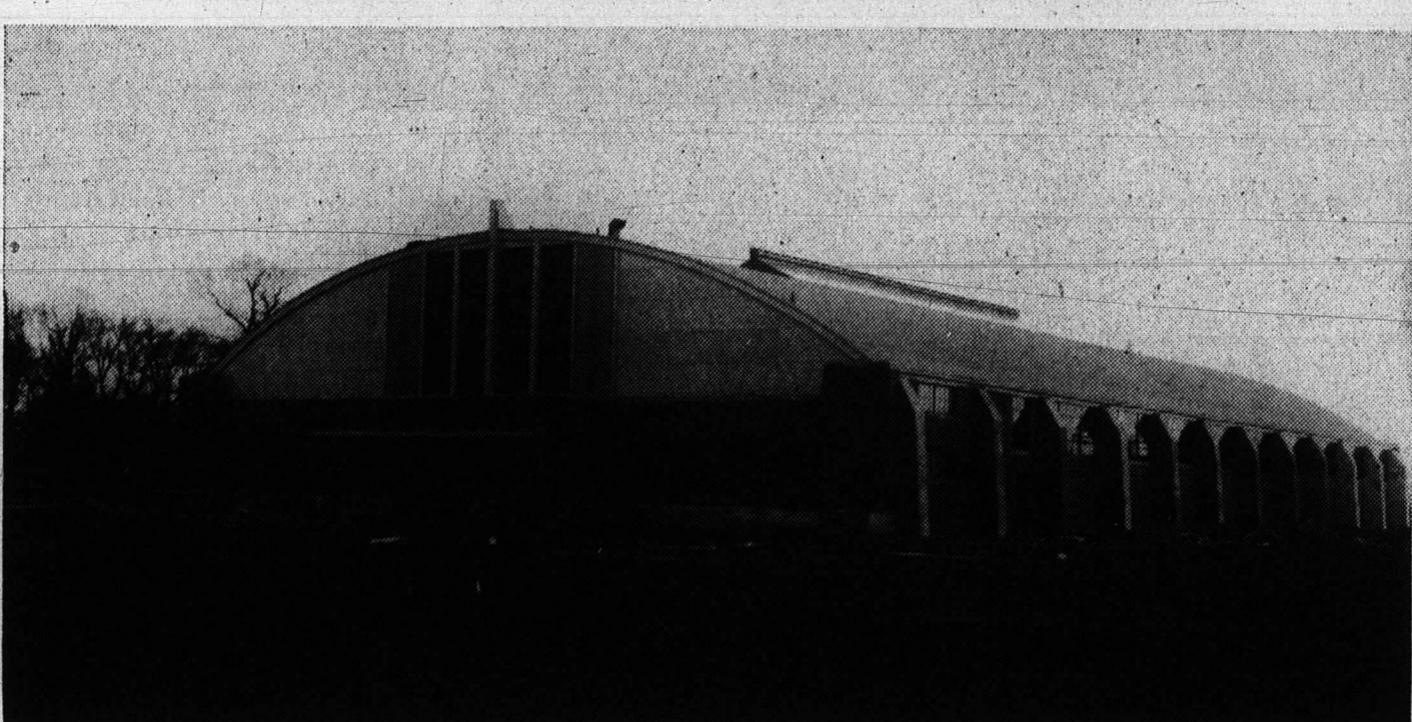

"It is justly conjectured that nothing has ever created so much talk between Rensselaer and Collegeville as the telephone line connecting the two places. (April, 1897—Collegian.)

LATEST HOME OF SJC SPORT

Shown here is one of the first views of the new Fieldhouse. The huge structure gives St. Joseph's modern facilities for indoor sports of all kinds. Offices for the coaching staff are situated on the ground floor near the front entrances.

Fieldhouse Opens Whole New Vista For Varsity and Intramural Athletic Events

Although the actual dedication date has been postponed until next fall, the Field House is already proving its worth. No longer will old man weather tell the Pumas when their practice sessions can be held. Rain or shine, baseball, football, and track teams are now able to drill daily without interruption in the spacious building.

The new hardwood with its sleek lengthiness and broad expanse is the main feature of the new structure. Possibilities of seating two thousand spectators at a home game is another asset which cannot pass unconsidered. Greater teams attract greater crowds; we have the teams and now we have the facilities to handle greater crowds.

Sanitation and hygiene in the Field House is of the best available. Large equipment and training rooms are now in use. Modern showers and training facilities add to the safety of our athletes.

Space Plentiful

The complete building measures 225 feet in length and 120 feet in width. The portable basketball floor measures 110 feet in length by 62 in width, allowing plenty of elbow room around the actual playing floor of 95' x 50' dimension.

Located in the front end of the building and running the width of the structure, the basketball floor leaves approximately 125 feet available for other sports.

Varsity teams, however, are not the only ones to benefit by the Field House. The old gym is now wide open for intramural interests. IM programs are now free to expand to almost unlimited intensity. Schedules and games will no longer conflict with varsity drills.

All this progress and stepped-up pace is credited to a very generous and interested St. Joseph's Alumni Association. The Alumni swung into the St. Joe victory march and gave to their Alma Mater this impressive edifice, which will stand as a lasting monument to their generous efforts.

An apparatus for increasing and regulating the pressure of gas has just been placed in position in the basement; and it is to be hoped that the low and uncertain light so frequent of late, is now a thing of the past. (February, 1896—Collegian.)

Cubs Beat Winamac, 14-7, For Second Time

A big sixth inning which produced nine runs enabled the St. Joseph Academy baseballers to chalk up their second victory of the season, 14-7, over Winamac here last Thursday.

Winamac was ahead going into the sixth inning, but the Cubs turned it into a rout with their ninth-inning rally. Dunn and Burkhardt each banged out three hits in four trips to the plate for St. Joe.

Onetime Puma Baseball Artists Fight Way Up Through Minors

By JACK PATTON

Two former St. Joe athletes are to be found this season in professional baseball. Earl Petit, a pitcher, is with Birmingham of the Southern Association, and Urban (Nigg) Pfeffer is an outfielder with Akron of the Middle Atlantic League.

Petit left the campus in June, 1938, to sign with the Cincinnati Reds. While at St. Joe, Petit was a member of the football, basketball, and baseball teams, excelling in the latter. Since turning pro, Petit has spent most of his time pitching for Columbia of the Sally League, a Red farm. Here Big Earl showed a great deal of stuff and gained invaluable experience. He was with the Reds down in Tampa, Florida, this winter, but Manager Bill McKechnie, deciding that the former Puma athlete was not quite ready for the big show, shipped him to Birmingham for further seasoning this year.

Pfeffer starred in both basketball and baseball for the Pumas. Following the close of St. Joe's 1940-41 basketball campaign, Nig answered the call of his first love, baseball, and signed an attractive contract with the New York Yankees. Pfeffer was immediately farmed to the Kansas City Blues of the American Association. Hoping to go far in baseball, Pfeffer requested that he be sent to some club of a lower classification, where he would get more playing experience. He is now patrolling the outfield for Akron, and during the past few days he has been slugging at a rate which is nothing short of sensational.

St. Joseph's should gain a considerable amount of prestige if these boys keep progressing as they have been.

"The new baseball suits are wonder workers, they are of such a hue. They put a person all out of gear, and you can't see a ball," says Zink. "The next time I'm going to wear one that's been washed a few times." (May, 1908—Collegian.)

First St. Joe Man

The Rev. Christian Daniel, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Star City, Ind., holds the distinction of being the first student to enroll at St. Joseph's College. That was way back in the Gay Nineties in the fall of 1891.

While the main building was being built, Christian Daniel, as a layman, was teaching in the Indian School (now Drexel Hall) across highway 53. When the fall term began he was first in line with pen poised in hand raring to register.

Fr. Daniel was a member of the graduating class of twelve at the graduation exercises held June 16, 1896. Shortly thereafter he entered the seminary to study for the

The Academy Corner

By Earl Weis

The St. Joseph's Academy Catalog and Handbook for the 1941-42 scholastic year is just off the press. Among the items listed in the attractive forty-two page manual are general information, general regulations, description of courses offered, and a list of students. Pictures included in the catalog this year are scenes of the interiors and exteriors of the chapel and administration buildings, views of Science Hall, group pictures of the casts of Gracie and Hired and Fired, and of the basketball squad.

Academy seniors observed their regular monthly town night for April last Tuesday, April 22.

Richard Bissler, senior, was operated on for appendicitis at Jasper County Hospital in Rensselaer last Monday, April 21. He had been taken to the hospital that afternoon by Dr. Johnson, college physician. Dick has a brother in the college department, and his parents came from Kent, Ohio, when notified. According to latest reports, he is recovering nicely.

Here and There: Brawny Robert Meiners, sophomore manager of the Academy baseball team, tries hard to keep his signals straight down at first base in return for the privilege of wearing a uniform (sometimes). . . . John Hemmert, junior, threatens STUFF with all sorts of libel suits for not including his name among those who received "Certificates of Participation" at the National Federation of Stamp Clubs Convention in Ft. Wayne last week. . . . John Dunn, senior, is feeling pretty good over his three out of four hits in the Winamac game—two doubles and a single. . . . Joseph Tyrrel, freshman, who lowered a window in the dorm with the crash of shattering glass, claims, "It was cracked, anyway." . . . Walter Wolford, senior, is engrossed in a book called The Art of Banking. Is he studying to be a capitalist? . . . His brother, Joseph, isn't doing any reading these days with the black eye incurred, he alleges, during baseball practice.
